'Where are Mr and Mrs Black?' thinks Bobbin. 'Where are the children? It's Saturday – they aren't at school.'

He goes to the kitchen door. Fluffball the cat is in the kitchen.

'Go away, Bobbin,' she says. 'You can't come in.'

'What an unfriendly cat!' thinks Bobbin.

Bobbin is sad. He walks to the town. He wants to go to the cinema, but he hasn't got any money. He goes to the park to play, but there aren't any children there.

He sits under a tree in the park. 'This isn't an exciting birthday,' he thinks.

Slowly, Bobbin goes home. When he gets home, he can hear people talking quietly in the house. Suddenly the family run into the garden.

'Happy birthday!' they shout. 'Surprise!'

They've got a big cake. It's heavier than Fluffball! The children give Bobbin presents too. The first present is big and light.

'Wow! Running shoes! Thanks!' Bobbin says.

The second present is smaller and heavier than the shoes. It's an MP3 player. Now Bobbin can listen to music when he's running. He's very happy.

'Let's have a party!' the children shout. They dance with the horse. What a fantastic birthday!
